

Flinders University Lecture - I don't like Mondays, Mum: preventing bullying in schools

Bullying. It's physically harmful, socially isolating and psychologically damaging, affecting the mental health and wellbeing of 1 in 5 Aussie kids.

Whilst face-to-face bullying is widely recognised, cyberbullying poses broader challenges, one of which requires an integrated approach when implementing effective interventions.

Join Professor Phillip Slee, who'll discuss how a Flinders University initiative is providing new insights into the effective implementation of anti-bullying programs, supporting schools across South Australia and the globe address the issue. Highlights include:

- How bullying and mental health are inter-related
- Why we need an evidence-based school and community programs to address the issue
- The associated economic and academic costs
- Why governments need an evidence-based policy to address the issue
- How an anti-bullying intervention called the P.E.A.C.E. pack is producing positive outcomes nationally and internationally.

Concluding the lecture will be a panel discussion moderated by Flinders University, Professor Mike Kyrios, Vice President & Executive Dean, College of Education, Psychology and Social Work:

- Professor Phillip Slee, Flinders University
- Trinh Mai, Assistant Director, Policy and Project Implementation, Department for Education
- Tony Mahar, Student Wellbeing Counsellor, Brighton Secondary School
- Angela Morrison, Behaviour Consultant, Catholic Education Office
- Jodie Evans, Strategic Engagement and Participation Officer, Commissioner for Children and Young People
- Gillian Kreuter, Manager Cyberbullying and Cyber Abuse team, Office of the eSafety Commissioner.
